

TROOPS STAY IN MEXICO, WILSON TELLS CARRANZA AS ALL STATE MILITIA ARE MOBILIZED FOR SERVICE

100,000 MEN TO MOBILIZE FOR SERVICE

STATE MILITIA STARTS MOVING
TODAY FOLLOWING ORDERS
ISSUED AT WASHINGTON
TUESDAY.

GO TO BORDER LATER

Recruiting and Drilling Will be the Order for Present—Will be Used for Patrol Duty in Case of Emergencies.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 19.—Not since the Spanish war has the nation seen such military activity as today.

Mobilize 100,000 Guardsmen.

More than 100,000 national guardsmen in forty-five states are under orders to mobilize for Mexican service.
They constitute virtually the entire
militia strength of the United States.
President Wilson, through Secretary
Baker, issued the order yesterday,
when it became apparent that conditions
in northern Mexico were not improving. Only drilling and recruiting will be in order among the militia organizations for the present. All must be mustered into federal service. Later they will be sent to the border for patrol duty, releasing about 30,000

regulars for service in Mexico if war
actually develops.

Additional warships also were ready today to hurry southward. The Mexican ports to protect Americans.
Secretary Daniels, after the militia
order was issued last night, ordered seven destroyers and nine other small vessels to join the American warships
already in Mexican waters.

No Offensive Contemplated.
No offensive attack on Mexico is contemplated. President Wilson only wishes to see the withdrawal of border against bandit raids, and to be prepared should Carranza troops carry out their threats to strike at American forces engaged in chasing bandits
south of the border.

With about 100,000 national guards-
men under mobilization and about 60-000 troops now at the border, the United States is ready to meet any American troops ready to go forward. It announces a refusal to withdraw until Mexico curbs its own bandits, and is emphatic.

The order commanding
border forces, will determine when the militia organization shall be dispatched
from their home states and to what points along the border.

Call issued Sunday.
Announcement of the call to arms
of the national guard of the country
was made late Sunday afternoon by Secretary of War Baker, following a long conference at the White House
with President Wilson. General Macomb,
president of the army war college,
General Scott, chief of staff, General
Bliss and General Mills, assistant chiefs of staff.

The view of the disturbed conditions
of the Mexican border and in order to insure complete protection for all Americans, the president has called upon the militia to defend the border
and to see that the border is kept
as fully as possible as General Funston determines them to be needed for the purposes stated.

An effort will be made to relieve those on duty
from time to time so as to distribute the duty.

This call for militia is wholly unprecedented in the history of the United States. It is the first time that the militia has been called upon to go into Mexico except as may be necessary to prosecute certain band-
its who attempt outrages on American soil.

The militia are being called out so as to leave some troops in the several states. They will be mobilized at their home stations, where necessary training can be done.

Wisconsin Guard Ready.
Appleton, June 19.—The procedure
to be followed in ordering the Wisconsin national guard into service, is to have the various organizations assembled at Camp Douglas, leaving the regiment at the home station to report, provided the companies are to have the home rendezvous with war strength—150 men. There is a possibility that the companies will be held at the home station for a day or two,
before being provisioned two years ago, when it appeared a call was imminent, giving time for the necessary supplies to arrive as planned, and at the same time giving the companies
time to recruit.

There are standing orders that lieutenants left behind to recruit are to forward the men to Camp Douglas as fast as they are enlisted. Each officer designated for that duty is com-pulsorily supplied with necessary
funds.

Camp Douglas, the troops will be sent to a concentration camp, the first division consisting of Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota.
Although it is not known whether
these stations will be united into a division or not.

Train Schedule Prepared.
The train schedule for the mobilization of the Wisconsin national guard
prepared by Major Charles R.
Hart, chief quartermaster, on Monday. It states it is estimated that at least twenty-four hours notice
will be necessary for the railroads to provide the necessary equipment and cars to transport the men to Camp Douglas. It also states that the train stations at Camp Douglas, forty-eight hours ahead of regiments, indicating plans are to hold companies at
these stations, two days after a call.
It is known as a call is issued,
the first officer to be sent to the headquarters of the second division was Lieutenant John Vogt,
who offered his services in the capacity, and was enlisted and appointed battalion sergeant major. He designed last spring after fifteen years

of service on account of business.

Funston Has Preference.
San Antonio, Tex., June 19.—It was indicated at the headquarters of the southern department today that General Funston would request the war department to send him first the militia
of New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.
The designation of militia units for service along the border, will be made by the war department, but it was pointed out that General Funston
believed he could make practical use immediately of the organizations from those states. Both he and his staff were quite content that the work of organizing the militia, especially that from most of the states, be done at home stations.

General Funston and his staff were chiefly concerned today in the study of how best to maintain the delicate balance between United States and Mexico, until the militia organizations began to arrive. Officers at department headquarters believed it improbable
that any of the state troops would get to the border stations before ten days
and that even then only a small percentage of the troops would be available for service.

Philadelphia, June 19.—The president's mobilization order which caused feverish activity in national guard circles did not affect the Philadelphia
navy yards. There were only about 100 marines at the yard and these are needed for police duty. Practically all available marines are at Haiti and San Donago and will be sent direct from those islands to Mexico if needed. It was said at the yards today that in case of actual war and a decision on the part of the general staff to attack Mexico by land and sea, a number of ships might be sent from here but it will necessarily take some time for a strike on the part of the navy. No
general orders will reach the navy yards for several days, possibly not
for a week.

New York Guard Assembles.
New York, June 19.—15,000 or more troops of the New York National Guard today began to assemble in their armories, throughout the state in response to the president's call.

It is reported that the $500,000 appropriated for the state maneuvers this summer, will be used for to defray the expenses of mobilization.
Major General O'Ryan expects that the New York troops will be kept together as a division of Federal army
when mustered in.

Crowds to Enlist.
Washington, June 19.—A recruiting
office of the District of Columbia
national guard opened here immediately
after the preparedness parade last evening, was crowded this morning for applicants for enlistment.
A majority of the district guard-
men are employees of various government departments.

Southern Guards Mobilize.
Atlanta, Ga., June 19.—Active preparations for national guard mobilization
were under way in South Atlantic states today in response to the president's call.

Board of Trade Regiment.
Chicago, June 19.—President G. P.
Griffin, of the Chicago Board of Trade,
today appointed a committee to organize a board of trade regiment for service in Mexico.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, June 19.—Officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company today faced the possibility of a strike on the part of more than 2,500
telegraphers and station agents, prior to a conference today between representatives of the men and P. C. Hart,
general manager of the system.
In a recent ballot on the question,
the employees decided almost unanimously to strike if the company refused their demands for shorter hours and increased wages. It was said the entire system would be affected.

Danger Zone On the Border—El Paso, Juarez and the Rio Grande

This view of Santa Fe street in El Paso, Texas, shows the Rio Grande and a part of Juarez, Mexico, in the background. El Paso is on the American end of the international bridge and being so closely connected with Mexico is regarded as a danger zone. Everyone crossing the bridge from Mexico is searched for weapons.

Gen. Pershing Alert
American Expeditionary Forces in Mexico Being Kept in Readiness
for Quick Dash, North
or South.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 19.—Communications from the Mexican embassy announcing there had been a clash between a boat crew from the gunboat
Annapolis and Carranza soldiers at Mazatlan, yesterday, and asking that in the present tense situation no man
be landed in Mexico from American warships, under any circumstances,
were delivered to the state department today by an embassy secretary.

The embassy presented a report
from the military commander at Mazatlan telling of the incident as follows:
"A boat from the warship approached a Mazatlan wharf and was warned
to keep off until permission to land
could be obtained from military authorities. It went back to the ship
and returned with its crew armed.
The officer in command was told that permission for landing had not been given, and an argument ensued between soldiers and civilians gathered on the wharf and in the midst of the discussion a drunken Japanese was shot at the Americans, who promptly replied with a volley into the crowd. Carranza soldiers returned the fire, and the boats withdrew,
leaving behind two officers, who were arrested. The officers later were released. The reports make no mention of American casualties, but say
two Mexican soldiers and one civilian
were wounded.

Pershing is Alert.
Columbus, N. M., June 19.—Notwithstanding the threat of General Trinidad, the Mexican commander, to attack if he marched in any direction
except toward the border, General
Pershing, field commander of the American expeditionary force in Mexico, is said to be quietly laying plans
for quick dashes north and south, at the first sign of open hostilities. His plans, it is believed, by close observing, are to gain possession of a portion of the Northwestern railroad,
which practically commands the territory adjacent to his line of communication.

General Pershing is in receipt daily
of information regarding the defection
of Mexican troops movement. Naives treated kindly by Americans have voluntarily supplied valuable information.

Envoy Calls on Lansing.
Washington, June 19.—An official of the Mexican embassy called at the state department early today and left
a communication for Secretary Lansing. No intimation as to its contents was divulged either at the embassy or the state department. It was learned the embassy acted on telegraphic instructions from Mexico City. Some officials thought the communication
probably was a request for a prompt reply to General Carranza's note demanding the withdrawal of American troops in Mexico.

Silliman Still Awaited.
Laredo, June 19.—Although half a dozen American refugees arrived from the interior of Mexico this morning,
John R. Silliman, American consul,
who has been stationed at Saltillo
and Douglas last week, was not among the numbers. His arrival has been anticipated for the last four days.

Gordon Barriage of Chicago spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
William Barriage, Court street, and Mrs. Clarence Langdon and three children of Marshalltown, Iowa, are visiting relatives in the city.

Candidate Hughes
BACK IN NEW YORK
New York City, N. Y., June 19.—
Charles Evans Hughes arrived here
from Washington at 7:15 a. m. today,
to confer with a sub-committee of Republican national committee, of which
W. Murray Crane is chairman, concerning the organization of a new committee including election of a new chairman.
The conference was called to meet at 2:30 p. m. in Mr. Hughes' temporary quarters in a hotel. It is understood Mr. Hughes has two or three men in mind whose names he will submit to committee as choice for chairman.
The Republican presidential committee was accompanied from Washington only by his son. He leaves for Providence, R. I., at 5 p. m. to attend his class reunion of Brown University.
He will return here Thursday and remain until Saturday when he will go to spend part of the summer at Bridgehampton, R. I. Mr. Hughes
will not return to Washington before election. He would not discuss politics or Mexican situation this morning.

Colonies in Mexico City urging King
Alfonso to take action to prevent war between United States and Mexico. The election of the King to arbitrate
the differences between the two

Sends Second Note
TO AUSTRIA-HUNGARY
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 19.—A second
note to Austria-Hungary regarding the attack by an Austrian submarine upon the American tank steamer Presto-
nia was coded at the state department today for immediate transmission to Vienna. It is understood to demand an apology for the attack and reparation for the damage.

Governor's Call
For State Forces
Madison, June 19.—The governor is issuing the following message to people
of Wisconsin:
"To the People of Wisconsin:
"National emergencies occur when it is lawful for the president to call forth to federal service the militia of the several states. He alone and exclusively has power to determine when the exigency for such calling force
has arisen.
"By order, dated June 18, 1916, the president of the United States has called forth the Wisconsin National Guard
to the number of one brigade of three regiments of infantry, one troop of cavalry, one battery field artillery and one field hospital.
"His call is the call of the nation
and as such I transmit it to the National Guard of Wisconsin.
"And I call not only upon those who are bound by enlistment to serve the state, but upon all other people of Wisconsin that by their aid and encouragement, in the present emergency,
the quota of Wisconsin troops required
for national service may be promptly filled, and thereafter maintained, and
the further end in place of those who go forth there may be organized,
drilled and disciplined fresh troops
to serve state and nation and they shall be also called forth.

"Governor and Commander-in-Chief."
"State of Wisconsin Executive Office, June 18, 1916. Brigadier General Orlando Holway is hereby directed to proceed to Camp Douglas and to assume command of all troops of the Wisconsin National Guard, mobilized
in pursuance of order of the President of the United States, dated June 18, 1916, or which may be hereafter mobil-

Carranza's insinuation for a recall of American troops from Mexico, go

ON TRAIN CHANGES
Directors Hear Railway Officials Relative to Abandoning Trains—
Plan Employment Bureau.
Janesville Commercial Club directors met Chicago and Northwestern railway officials this noon for a "casualty" explanation of abandoning passenger trains and also heard a levy
of Janesville employers of women relatives to the local female labor market.
G. W. Daily, superintendent of the Wisconsin division and J. L. Ferguson, assistant general passenger and ticket agent, and Alva Hemmings, local agent of the Chicago and Northwestern line, represented the railway
at the conference. As regards service
Mr. Ferguson, who attempted to give the "explanation," Janesville still experiences practically the same service
with exception of the "accommodation" train north at night and the southern train in the morning.
Opinions expressed by citizens and voiced by the directors to the traffic
indicated that Janesville is unsatisfied in its desire to see the bound train to leave here daily at seven A. M. Several years ago there was a train leaving here at 7:20 which arrived at Chicago at 10:00, admitted to day by Mr. Ferguson, as regard business,
the company ran out of Janesville.
It was explained to Mr. Ferguson, that Janesville business men made a practice of going into Chicago and finishing their business on a Sunday morning. As a result they desired accommodation that would get them to Chicago at the earliest hour
possible without the delay of the train. The railway officials, in response to them in leaving Janesville in early morning.
Suggestion that the abandoning of the two trains was the opening wedge
for the abandonment of more
trains was met with the statement:
"Our company, absolutely, will take off
no more trains."
Girls Fear Janesville?
Thos. E. Nowe, an explanation
as to why more girls did not surrounding towns and villages did not seek work in Janesville when the question arose as to why labor from such places as Brodway, Monroe, Albion
and other such places and the country
could not be brought here. Mr. Nolan,
in brief, stated that the city had an understanding with the railway that even the girls themselves, though they wanted the work, were afraid to permit their daughters to come because of Janesville's reputation.
The statement of the superintendent of the Gossard plant seemed to contradict this when asked regarding help
when he stated that he had applications from girls from Brodway, Millerton, Edgerton and Brodway, and

MACHINE CO. PICNIC ON NEXT SATURDAY TO BE GALA AFFAIR

Elaborate Preparations Completed For Annual Outing—Sport Program Is Announced Today.

The eighteenth annual picnic of the Janesville Machine company will be held on Saturday at Yost Park. Committees in charge of arrangements to-day announced practically every detail completed and indications point to a 25th day of the employment of this big plant and their families and friends.
Interurban officials have arranged for special cars to care for the big crowds which are expected to attend. The first special trolley to leave will depart immediately after the regular 9 o'clock car. The trolley will be a 1916 model and will be driven by a member of the Bower City band, which has been hired for the day. The trolley will be decorated with flags and bunting. With so many of the employees and their families, Saturday afternoon, it is expected that hundreds of these will make the trip to the park during the afternoon.
The field and aquatic sports will be held during the morning. The committee in charge of these events this morning announced the following program: 100-yard race for men; 100-yard race for boys under twelve; 100-yard race for ladies; 100-yard race for girls under twelve; sack race for boys; three-legged race for boys; wheelbarrow race for men; pig-back race for men; tug of war; H. Quade and John Fleming, captains; the eating contest for boys; duck race for boys; guessing contest for women.
Captain Don Slawson of the office force baseball team, which is scheduled to open the activities of the afternoon in a game with the Janesville team, has had his players put through a strenuous practice during last week and today announced that training would be lightened somewhat for the reason that the men would be in the pink of condition. Captain Fred Porter has also been doing some work with his cohorts. The foremen say they are again going to trim the office force as they did last year.
John Flemming and F. Quade, captains of respective tug-of-war teams, have lined up their teams and both are expecting to have the liberty of smoking the majority of the cigars of the box which will go to the winners.
The Janesville Red Sox have been matched by the committee to meet the Fairbanks-Morse Apprentices at 3 o'clock. This promises to be an interesting game as the Sox were only able to nose out a 9 to 3 victory over the Line City aggregation in their game yesterday.

Dancing is to be held during the afternoon and evening with a special orchestra for those who care to dance after the supper hour.

EVERYTHING READY FOR SENIOR PARTY

Annual Affair Is Tuesday Night at Assembly Hall and Committee Reports Big Time Assured.

Members of the graduation class of the Janesville High School will get together tomorrow evening for the annual senior party. This occasion will be the annual senior dancing party. It is to be held at Assembly Hall and will be a very successful affair. The committee in charge of the party has been working hard to make a success of the party and indications are that it will be all of this. The absence of extremely warm weather this year is expected to be a drawing card for a large number who in previous years remained away because of the prevailing hot nights on which the parties were given.
The hall has been appropriately decorated for the occasion and the committee has arranged an excellent program of dance numbers and other amusements for everyone who attends. High school graduates of former years are planning to attend in large numbers.

TROLLEY CAR HITS AUTO CAUSING SMALL DAMAGE ON SATURDAY EVENING

Nonfatal damage to the light auto truck of Alfred Fredrickson, a mason contractor living at 314 Prairie avenue, occurred about eight o'clock Saturday evening when a Janesville Traction company car, No. 27, struck the automobile at the Gazette corner. Fredrickson was driving west on Milwaukee street down the hill, and was forced to turn onto the car track when a large black touring car came onto Milwaukee street off North Bluff street. The trolley car was directly behind Fredrickson's machine. The motorist was unable to stop before the collision occurred, although moving slowly at the time. The left hand wheel was smashed and the tire ripped open. J. Hill, who gave his address as 401 Caroline street, was in the Fredrickson car.

NONE SUCH BROTHERS MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Committee in Charge of Burlesque Circus Parade to Hold Session.—Work Progressing Satisfactorily.

Members of the committee in charge of the None Such Bros. parade, the big circus burlesque for the afternoon of July Fourth, will meet on Tuesday evening at the Gazette library. At this time sub-committees who were appointed at a meeting a week ago will report on their work of canvassing the business houses of the city to secure the cooperation of merchants and their employees in the putting on of features in the parade.
These committees have met with much success and as a whole found enthusiasm high as to any aid that possibly could be extended to make Janesville's famous feature eclipse any of those of years past. Store clerks and merchants are going to be in the parade and many are now working up ideas on their own accord. On the other hand, a larger representation can be secured if those who have good ideas will only submit them to the committee. All will be given consideration and providing they can be worked up into something worth while without too much expense, the committee will put them on. Either Chairman Edward Amerphol or Peter Kuhn at the offices of the Janesville Commercial club, will be glad to have anyone call on them relative to features or suggestions. Since the exhibition is wholly a citizen's affair, it behooves everyone to lend a little help.
Additional drays, wagons and auto trucks and horses and mules have been secured by the members of the committee since the last meeting. Several cages and floats are already being assembled at the rink building, which the committee has leased for the reason any person with a float or wagon may use for decorating it up as it will appear in the parade.

DENIES STATEMENT ON THE TWINE PLANT

Secretary Tappins of Board of Control Replies to Assemblyman McGowan.

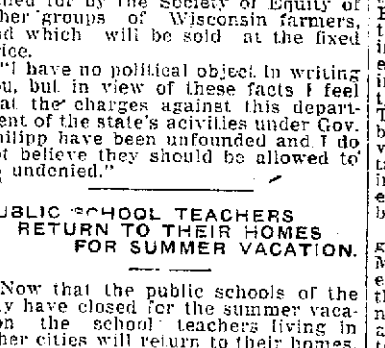

Madison, Wis., June 19.—Secretary M. J. Tappins of the state board of control has written letters to Wisconsin newspapers denying assertions made in a letter printed in the Madison Journal by Assemblyman Frank L. McGowan of Endeavor regarding the management of the binder twine factory at the state prison in Waupun. In his reply to the letter of Assemblyman McGowan, Mr. Tappins says that in the interest of fair play and that the public may have an opportunity to judge for itself he is giving the facts as they appear on the record of the state. Mr. Tappins also asserts that Judge John McArthur in the Madison newspaper, Mr. McGowan has been grossly misinformed. Output is increased.
Mr. Tappins' letter follows: "The record of the state board of control show that the twine plant has manufactured more twine during the last year than ever before, and that it has been sold at the highest price and under the same conditions as that manufactured in Minnesota. For the year ending June 30, 1915, there was manufactured at Waupun 4,616,550 pounds of twine. For the year ending June 30, 1916, the output will be approximately 5,000,000 pounds, more than in any other year. The exact figures will be available later. Since July 1, 1915, the plant has run night and day for three months, and has not been closed a day. During 1915 it has been operated twelve hours a day. It has not been idle a day since Jan. 1, 1915. The sale of twine, since the manufacture, was discontinued for a short time early in 1915 to install a credit system. Wisconsin and Minnesota are selling twine cheaper than any other states. The price for 1915 and 1916 has been identical, 7 1/2 cents for Standard, 8 cents for Extra Standard, 9 1/2 cents for Climax and 10 cents for Premium. Although representative of other states have offered a bonus over the prices for the entire output, 1,000,000 pounds have been set aside for the Society of Equity, to be delivered when ordered. The board would be more than pleased to set every pound of its output in Wisconsin. At the present time the plant is running overtime to manufacture a surplus which may be called for by the Society of Equity or other groups of Wisconsin farmers, and which will be sold at the fixed price.
"I have no political object in writing you, but in view of these facts I feel that the charges against this department of the state's activities under Gov. Philipp have been unwarranted and I do not believe they should be allowed to go unrefuted."

REMEDY IN PRAYER IN RELIGIOUS LIFE RUNS AT A LOW EBB

Dr. Clarence E. Lapp, acting Baptist Pastor, Urges Christians to Diagnose Spiritual Ailments.

Urging a diagnosis of the spiritual condition of individual Christians, of individual churches, of denominations, of the community and of the world at large, Dr. Clarence E. Lapp, acting pastor of the Baptist church, recommended the application of the remedy of prayer in case it was found that religious life was running at low ebb. Life of God in the soul of man, Dr. Lapp said, is the only remedy for the things which move God. He is lacking in religion if he fails to heed the call of duty summoning him to the aid of suffering humanity all about him. There is no response, on the part of the man who is weak in spirituality, to the power which moves Almighty God. The church which needs a religious revival is unresponsive to the unsaved and it is in a condition of low state of religious vitality.

It is the apostle which moves a Christian to diagnose his own case and for the church to examine into its life to determine whether or not it is fulfilling its greatest Christian destiny. Dr. Lapp said that the spirit of this modern day was toward a lack of religion. Men, for the most part, are less responsive to spiritual things and to religious needs. The tendency of the age is away from God, indicating a lack of response in the human heart to the things which move the heart of God. Dr. Lapp declared that there was no way a pessimist with respect to the future of the cause of Christ, but still it is evident that there was a crying need for a careful diagnosis of our spiritual life to determine if it is weak and then to apply the remedy.

There is but one remedy for weakened religious vitality, the speaker said. It is to come before God with knees bent and head bowed to the dust, petitioning the frequent and greater strength of spiritual life which will hold men true to the wishes of the Almighty. As a means of applying this remedy I would recommend the importance of family worship. Daily scripture reading and prayer in the family circle will do much toward curing and strengthening our spiritual vitality. In addition to respectability we need purity and in addition to privacy we need integrity. Then private prayer will help in this revival of religious life. We need to cultivate the habit of communing with God on every occasion throughout the day.

Dr. Lapp recalled the frequency with which prayers were offered in the recent session of the northern Baptist convention and declared that it resulted in the advancement of the cause of Christ. As the scripture reading for his address, Dr. Lapp read parts of the fourth chapter of Paul's letter to the Ephesians.

STUDY CHILD LABOR IN MARATHON COUNTY

Will Make Intensive Study of Labor Conditions Existing in Northern County.

Madison, Wis., June 17.—Marathon county will be entered next week by officials of the children's bureau of the federal department of labor, who will make an intensive study of the conditions surrounding child welfare. A similar study in Iowa county has just been completed by Dr. Florence B. Sherbon and Miss Elizabeth Moore, of the children's bureau, who will conduct the Marathon county survey. The investigation in the northern county will be on a larger scale than was attempted in Iowa county. It is planned to visit in selected townships, to every mother who has had a child born since May 1, 1914. The information gained is kept absolute and the success of the study depends upon the cooperation of the babies' mothers from whom the bureau secures its information, and the confidential nature of the inquiry has been well understood. That of the 15,000 well understood interviewed in nine communities throughout the county only seven have declined to give the desired information.
It is estimated that taking the United States as a whole, one out of every eight babies born dies before the age of the first twelve months. Behind this average figure is known to be a wide variation in death rates in different localities and under different conditions, ranging from approximately one death among every twenty babies born to one in every four. The children's bureau is endeavoring by the act of creating it, in 1913, to investigate the problem of infant mortality, and has therefore been studying the exact conditions under which babies are born in this country.

The Iowa county survey was a great success, according to Miss Moore, who bore this week. Seventy-seven babies from all parts of the county were examined at a community institute held at Dodgeville, and the meetings were largely attended.

CHAPTER 73.

Denatured flour is not the only flour against the true nature of which the common people should be aroused. "Unsound flour," which should be used for technical purposes only, is used off by the ton in blending plants, which make a business of collecting and distributing for wholesale bakery supply houses the off-courings of the flour industry.

Before discussing the subject of white flour, which attains its whiteness through the ability of grits gauze and silk bolting cloth to separate the fine white particles of the wheat kernel from the rich brown pericarp and the buttery golden germ, it is necessary to refer to two other kinds of white flour against which this needs to be protected.

The first is "bleached flour," the other "bleached flour," in this case we shall deal with "sound flour" only.

The public has no means of knowing just how much unsound flour, sometimes called musty, sometimes called sunken, sometimes called decomposed, is utilized in the production of bakery bread, biscuits, rolls, buns, cakes, cookies, snaps and wafers.

Prior to Aug. 19, 1913, the authorities had never bothered about the question of unsound flour in the city of New York, although the New York Produce Exchange for years had maintained a department, the chief duty of which was to reject such flour, so that members of the exchange would be protected against the financial loss involved in purchasing an inferior or inedible flour.

The government had never made a seizure of such flour in the Empire state notwithstanding the fact that an enormous traffic in spoiled flour was being carried on.

Flour men, even though they went through all the motions of rejecting such stuff, suffered no worries concerning any possible official interference with the final disposition of the rejected product. So it was an easy matter to work off decomposed flour by mixing ten parts of the rotten flour with ninety parts of sound flour, thereby extending through the medium of the public's stomach.

This unsound flour was always sold at a ridiculous price, but the public always paid the regular market price for the finished breadstuff from which it was made.

Such was the situation Aug. 19, 1913, on which day, in order to bring the flour to a crisis, as far as the authorities were concerned, arrived with Dr. William H. Allen, director of the New York Bureau of Municipal Research, to have some of his men make an investigation with me of the flour men of Jersey City.

Accordingly, Dr. W. H. Deaderick and J. H. Kirshman of the New York Bureau of Municipal Research accompanied me on the inspection of the Lehigh Valley flour and grain plant.

There we discovered 58,800 pounds of unsound, musty and inedible flour, plus a further 186-pound cotton bags.

These bags are porous. All flour is shipped in them. Rats run over them. They are subject to many unspeakable forms of contamination in the freight yards. But that is still another matter relating not to nutrition but to sanitation.

Notwithstanding the regulations of the New York Produce Exchange, which require flour to be marked "Sound" or "Unsound" according to the facts, none of this flour bore any mark indicating its true nature and no satisfactory explanation could be made of this phenomenon by Flour Inspector W. J. Taylor, in charge of Piers 1, 2 and 3, Lehigh Valley Railroad, Jersey City.

I notified the New York station of the bureau of chemistry, Department of Agriculture, of our findings, whereupon Federal inspectors G. H. and Ford were despatched to the scene. The government men were denied access to the flour by the railroad officials.

It is not generally known that Congress has not endowed federal food inspectors with the power of search. They can be kept out of any factory they want them to enter, thereby making it impossible for them to make any investigation into the matter.

For a period of twenty-four hours the government men believed that they could do nothing with the stuff which, in the meantime, I was able to save the loss mentioned.

C. F. J. A. Not only is iron lost in modern methods of milling, but also many other mineral nutrients present in the natural grain.

When vegetables are boiled, most of the minerals, because of their solubility, are extracted by the water. When the water is thrown into the sink, the food minerals are lost.

These essential minerals can be saved by serving the water as soup. By making a point of using the smallest amount of water necessary in boiling vegetables, a sauce which is valuable which can be served with the vegetables.

Paring is another source of loss because the minerals are present in the fruit and vegetable in deposits just beneath the skin. Whenever it is possible it is advisable to boil vegetables with their skins, but where this interferes with the taste of the food, paring should be resorted to.

By proper seasoning, the nutrients lost by paring can be turned into a sauce.

Q.—What is the value of buttermilk as a food? Is it wise or safe for one to use it freely who is troubled with acidity of the stomach?

J. S. A.—Buttermilk deserves a prominent place in the diet. It not only contains some of the most important elements of nutrition, but harbors a type of germ which performs a notable service when present in the intestinal flora.

The valuable work of the buttermilk organism is apparent when we consider some of the activities which bacteria carry on in the intestinal tract.

Micro-organisms possess the characteristic when feeding, of destroying large quantities of food and absorbing very little of it. The peptococci organisms so thoroughly decompose meat that many of the products of the decomposition are gases of an extremely poisonous character.

prove, had been rejected as "unsound" by Messrs. Hawer & Cliney, of the New York Produce Exchange, and sold at a price more than a cent a pound to a blending plant on Staten Island.

In the meantime the government's inspectors were in communication with Washington and were instructed by wire to make another effort to examine the flour. They returned to the pier the following day but, in the meantime, somebody had performed a mysterious ceremony over the decomposed stuff.

During the night the contents of the 186-pound bags were transferred to 140-pound bags. This manipulation was intended to pass the rotten flour from the jurisdiction of the government officials.

It has been held in the trade that in more than one federal district court the government's jurisdiction over any product, however, it comes to an end once that product has been removed from the original package in which it had been shipped into interstate commerce.

Dr. Carl Alberg, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, was immediately notified of the complexity of the situation, and, regardless of the legal aspect of the case, his efforts finally resulted in a seizure of the rotten flour on a label issued by United States District Attorney Warren Davis, Trenton, N. J.

The seizure was made by United States Deputy Marshal Becking, Jersey City. Prior to this seizure, had made numerous vain attempts to obtain action through the New York City health department, but, for reasons which have never been made public, and it still refuses to concern itself with the unsoundness of the city's bread supply.

It is not generally known or even suspected that unsound flour is exceedingly common. Rotten flour bread is a matter of frequent occurrence in every large city in the United States, but, as I shall prove to you in forthcoming articles, it is of no more frequent occurrence than pound cakes made of rotten eggs; layer cakes, lady fingers and vanilla wafers composed of the same unsavory stuff; ice cream and chocolate cake, meats, sausages made of tuberculous carcasses; ice cream made of foully contaminated milk; candy made of ethereal flavors; lamp black, stearin acid and sulphur; soft drinks treated with dyes, chemicals, saccharine and soap bark; butter made of cream containing pathogenic organisms; lard manufactured from the fat of pigs suffering from disease at the time of slaughter; pickles, chow-chow, and soups hardened with alum; baking powders, composed of metallic compounds that ought never to be used for food purposes; paste poultry artificially restored to a state of freshness; putrid, canned vegetables preserved with arsenic; bicarbonate, a chemical the presence of which is most difficult to detect in the proportions in which it is employed; jams and the hundred other food combinations that are rarely interfered with by municipal or state authorities.

These charges against the food supply of America would, I fully realize, require a long and exhaustive investigation, but for the overwhelming evidence which I am able to present, notwithstanding many official efforts to minimize the facts, the evidence is overwhelming.

Well-meaning and sincere people in high places shuddered and then smiled when I was first permitted to address audiences of women's clubs, teachers' associations, men's clubs, and medical societies on these subjects. Hence it became necessary in substantiation of such charges to produce evidence that could not be shaken.

The evidence was produced. As a result large enterprises bearing spurious reputations have been unmasked, adulterators have been convicted and heavily fined. Many of them have been sent to the penitentiary during the past thirty-six months.

The facts that are set down here have been filtered through the food inspection records. They have been tested in fire and have withstood the ordeal. It is because they now command respect that I am permitted at last to unfold them here.

Twenty dollar assessment on shares of Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway Co.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Minneapolis, Minn., June 17.—Negotiations between the opposing factions today may bring adoption of the proposed arrangement for reorganizing and refinancing the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway company by placing a $20 assessment on each share of stock.

It is understood that if the other scheme to avoid the levy fails the position then will agree to the original arrangement. Although five meetings were held, some time ago, the organization scheme was not put to a final vote despite reports that promoters of the arrangement controlled seventy-five per cent of the proxies.

At the final meeting B. F. Spellman, of New York, representing the opposition, said he had a new reorganization proposition which would eliminate the assessment feature of the original one. He added that the $250,000 underwriters' fees could be saved, and that the company would go direct to its stockholders for the money needed.

After the meeting counsel for the railroad issued a statement saying that the arrangement proposed by Mr. Spellman's clients can formulate a plan for raising the necessary $4,500,000, for reorganizing and refinancing the railroad which will be mutually satisfactory to all parties concerned.

EXPECT LIVELY FIGHT IN MINNESOTA PRIMARY. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—Minnesota's state primary today concluded a lively fight. It was a state affair, with congressional seats in the foreground.

Gov. J. A. Burnquist, who is filling out the unexpired term of W. S. Hammond, deceased, is the republican candidate for re-nomination who probably will get his name on the ballot at the primary.

S. G. Iverson, former state auditor, is opposing Burnquist.

F. B. Kellogg, who gained national fame as a trust buster, Senator M. E. Clapp, A. C. Oberhart, former governor and Congressman C. A. Lindbergh are after Clapp's toga. Their fight has been a merry one, not entirely free from mud. Lindbergh got a lot of Scandinavian and Progressive votes today.

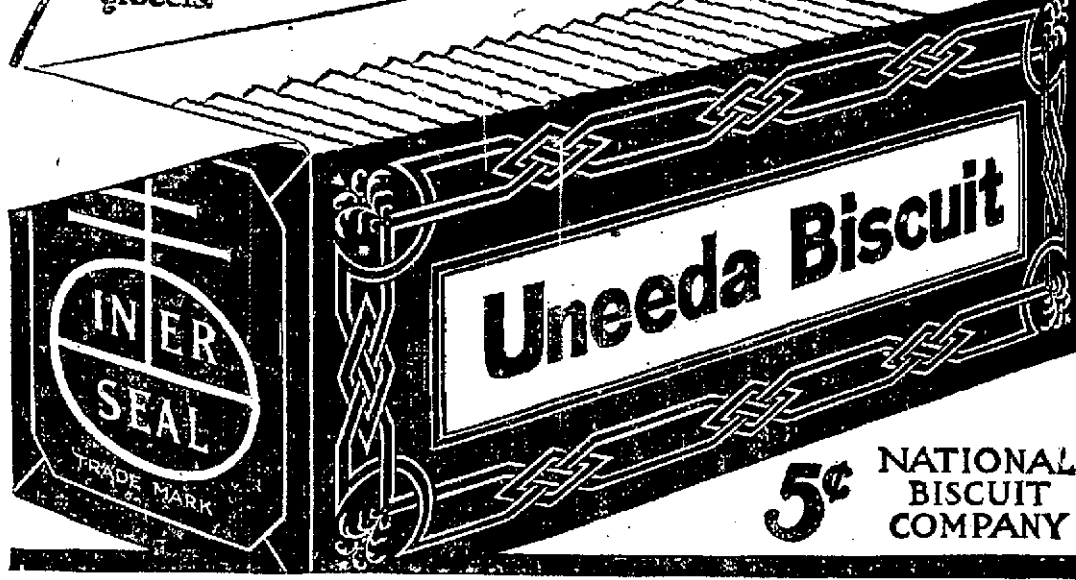

In the democratic gubernatorial fray, a three cornered fight has aroused much interest. S. D. Works, C. M. King and P. Dwyer were the candidates. Works has been identified with the reactionary democrats in the state legislature. Dwyer, a Minneapolis boiler maker, polled a large labor vote. King is a good roads advocate.

Dan Lawler, democratic candidate for United States senator, was the only Fred Lynch faction democrat in the field. He was opposed by A. J. Davis of Minneapolis.

Socialists and prohibition tickets were not filed.

INSURANCE IS PAID BY ENGLISH FIRMS

Insurance Companies of England Losing Money—They Refuse to Issue Any War Policies.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

London, June 19.—Life insurance in wartime is a difficult problem for the man who wants to be insured. Also of the insurance company.

Soldiers cannot get life insurance. No company will take the risk. But the life insurance companies of England are so game that the man carrying life insurance at the time he went to the front is assured that his widow and family will receive his insurance money, no matter how he may be killed.

All life insurance policies issued in the United Kingdom have always borne a clause that the companies would not pay for death caused by war. Nobody expected war, therefore nobody objected to the clause. But when war began and the men of England marched off to the front from their desks and offices the directors of life insurance companies decided that in spite of the war clause they would pay for deaths in war on all outstanding policies, but would issue no new policies on the lives of men going to the front.

The life insurance companies have paid out for the deaths of men killed in battle a tremendous sum.

"Isn't it possible for a rich man, going to the front, to secure life insurance, if he is willing to pay for it?" an insurance man was asked.

"No. We've had all kinds of fancy offers, but we cannot make rates of any kind. The man who wished to take life insurance would have to pay us much more money in premiums than we could pay his beneficiaries.

An even bet we couldn't afford to take. He'd be betting us $100,000, say, that he would be killed and we would be betting the same amount that he would not. All the odds would be in his favor."

Are there any special classes of soldiers whose lives are worth less than others?

"Yes. Flying men. We figure the odds are four to one against them."

"But if a flying man was carrying life insurance before the war would you pay for his death?"

"Yes, just as if he were an ordinary soldier. We've paid on the death of more than one man who was killed in the air."

The insurance companies, early in the war, made an attempt to prepare a policy for soldiers and officers. At first, the policy holder was asked to pay a premium of $16 on every $100. The rate went up to $18 and when the companies faced the choice of making a 20 per cent rate or stopping soldier insurance, they chose the latter course.

The insurance of civilians against war risks, however, is being developed by London insurance companies, whose actuaries are working out such questions as:

What are the odds that any certain person will not be killed by Zeppelin bombs?

What are the odds that Germany will not succeed in sending a great flock of Zeppelins over London and killing thousands?

One company, whose experts studied the air question at great length, now bets you $5,000 against $10 that you will not be killed by an aerial bomb that falls from the sky, whether it be an enemy bomb or a piece of British bomb fired at enemy aircraft.

The same company is also willing to bet 500 to 1 that you will not be killed by an enemy invasion.

For Safety. A man in the West was saved from death when a shot fired at him struck a silver dollar in his vest pocket. The moral of this is always to carry money in one's vest pocket. If one has no money, then the safety first movement suggests the prompt borrowing of it from the nearest easy friend.

Daily Thought. Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could; some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. This day for all that is good and fair.—Emerson.

MAYO IS ADVANCED TO RANK OF ADMIRAL

Vice Admiral H. T. Mayo Succeeds Admiral Fletcher in the Command of the Atlantic Fleet.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Washington, June 19.—When Vice Admiral H. T. Mayo succeeds Admiral Frank Fletcher in command of the Atlantic Fleet today, he will be advanced to the rank of admiral.

Rear Admiral De Witt Coffman, commanding the sixth division of the fleet, will be advanced to the grade of vice admiral, succeeding Admiral Mayo.

Admiral Fletcher will automatically become a rear admiral. He will receive an important shore detail.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced these changes after a conference with President Wilson. The secretary also conferred personally this week with Admirals Fletcher and Mayo.

When relieved of the command today, said Secretary Daniels, Admiral Fletcher will have served a little longer than fleet commanders usually do. He is a splendid officer and has accomplished much with the fleet. He has completed his tour of duty as commanding officer of the fleet, and there is no other reason for the change.

Admiral Mayo is an officer of great ability, and has rendered splendid service, said Mr. Daniels. He has the confidence of the officers and men in the entire fleet.

Admiral Mayo is the man who precipitated the trouble with Huerta, which resulted in the occupation of Vera Cruz by American forces. The admiral insisted that Huerta salute the American flag because of the arrest of American marines in Tampico.

In service circles unanimous praise was given today to Mr. Daniels' selection of Vice Admiral Mayo for the most coveted of posts. There is a particular feeling of satisfaction at the appointment because of the fear that Vice Admiral Mayo's part in the Tampico affair during the critical days of the struggle with Huerta had placed the officer's star under a cloud.

But Admiral Fletcher proved a strong friend for Vice Admiral Mayo, and when the Atlantic fleet was organized, with Admiral Fletcher in command, Rear Admiral Mayo received command of the battleship squadron and of the first division, with the rank of vice admiral.

Vice Admiral Mayo comes to fleet command at the age of fifty-six, retiring in December, 1918. His recent duties have been as commander of the State island navy yard, aid for personnel, and division commander in the Atlantic fleet.

Whitewater News. Whitewater, June 19.—The best ball game of the season so far was played here yesterday between the Milwaukee Designers and the local team. It was the second game in which the opposing team did not have to change pitchers. The last time Milwaukee played here Schultz was batted out of the box in the fifth, but this time he was in excellent form and allowed but six hits and getting eight strikeouts. Dodge also pitched good ball, allowing six hits and getting twelve strikeouts. Melton relieved him in the ninth and walked one man and struck out two. The locals were the first to score. In the second inning Goode hit for a base, went third on Meracle's hit over second and scored on Croak's fly to center. In the fifth Croak hit for two bases over first, went to third on Purpura's sacrifice and scored on Dodge's hit through center. The visitors made one in the fifth and one in the sixth, and in the ninth by a timely two-base hit made two more.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Winn spent Sunday at Center with relatives.

Mrs. C. Jones of Burlington is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thiele. Her daughter came from Madison last evening for a short visit.

The annual picnic of the Jefferson County Guernsey Breeders' association was held at Ralph Trutt's farm just west of the city and about three hundred people were present. There were addresses by Prof. George Humphrey of the University of Wisconsin and John Poynton. In the judgment of the cattle the thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Simonson won two prizes.

Mrs. J. J. Criger was in Milwaukee last week to attend the wedding of her son, Mr. Criger, to Miss Mabel Ellis on Wednesday. The groom will be remembered here, having made his home here at one time with Mr. and Mrs. Criger.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens of Chicago visited a few days at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Stevens.

RESUMED SLOWLY

First Milwaukee Train Reaches Wau-

ken, Ia., From La Crosse Today

Since Storm of June 2.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

La Crosse, June 17.—The C. M. & St. P. railway yesterday reached Wauken, Ia., and the La Crosse and South-eastern today reached Viroqua, Wis., cities of over 3,000 population, which had been cut off from communication since the flood of June 2. At the foot of nearly every confluence on the south-eastern between Stoddard and Viroqua, thirty miles, the track was washed out and its restoration was a slow and costly process. Because of the great damage done to the property at McGregor, Ia., an attempt is being made to procure removal of the division yards from McGregor to Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, just across the river.

JEFFRIS KEYNOTE.

It was a wonderful demonstration given Malcolm G. Jeffris in Madison on Friday night when he delivered his first real campaign speech of the present senatorial campaign in the very center of his opponent's territory. The audience that greeted him, listened to him attentively and the interest displayed all show that the present campaign will not be like former attempts at giving Wisconsin a true republican at Washington. It is a half-hearted effort, but a genuine campaign in which the people, the voters, are going to play their part by making a study of the situation and thinking for themselves when the facts are presented to them.

The fiasco at the republican national convention when the much-tooted "Wisconsin Idea" was laughed at and scorned by both the audience and delegates when presented and the sorry figure the state showed when in the face of an overwhelming republican majority of votes in favor of the nominee of the party, the lonely three still voted for the "Idea" that even the people repudiate now, has done much to waken the minds of the voters to the true situation.

In connection with the Jeffris speech at Madison, Friday night, he told a little story about the efforts of the followers of the Mad Mullan to prevent "Cub" Buck from acting as chairman of the meeting and introducing Mr. Jeffris. Buck is a senior and will graduate this week. He is a young man most popular among the students and much interested in politics. When it was announced Buck was selected to preside he was called into consultation by certain "powers" that he, threatened, vetoed and intimidation attempted if he did not drop out of the program. But Buck remained firm. As a last card he was suddenly ordered to be in Devil's Lake at an hour Saturday morning, in attendance at the engineers' camp installed there, which would necessitate his leaving Madison on a train departing before the hour for the address.

Buck's answer to this was his presence at the meeting, his introduction of Mr. Jeffris in a timely and well chosen address, and a midnight ride on a motorcycle to Devil's Lake to meet the demands of the enemies of good government. It was one of the sacrifices that the voters of the state are willing to make to bring republicanism back to Wisconsin and choose men to represent it in Washington that are not republicans for office and democrats in office.

Jeffris opened his campaign and he advanced good, sound doctrines. He did not bring forth any fads or fancies, but extolled the virtues of the republican nominees and urged upon his audience that they think for themselves, judge for themselves upon the questions of the day at issue and what a representative they would wish to have in Washington to meet such conditions. It was a strong, virile talk and one that left a lasting impression.

GOOD STREETS.

In a recent communication from a resident of a rural district the pertinent question is asked, "How can you keep on urging the residents of the country districts to build good roads when you permit such roads as North Bluff street and South Main street to remain in the condition they are?"

It is food for thought, this question, and there is a good deal of truth in the proposition. Take for example South Main and the roads approaching it. All main, travelled thoroughfares of trade both for the farmers and the autoists. Until you strike the brick pavement on Main street they are worse than the "Rocky road to Dublin." Why is this? Who is responsible?

The same might be said to be true of North Bluff street. For years attention has been called to the condition of this street which is one of the thoroughfares leading into the city from the north. What inducements exist that prevent its being paved, macadamized or permanently improved? The same question might apply to the approaches to Center avenue. In former days we told the "ward fund," and heavy cost of assessment upon property prevented this.

Now the ward funds have disappeared. Now the city has been divided into districts and is taking up the work of the city in a systematic manner: why not get busy on these particular roadways at once? It should be a matter for the business men of the city to take an interest in as the complaints come from persons who travel over them and pass to and from the business section to their homes in the country. Good roads are an asset to every community, but we can not urge good roads in the country and not build them in the city.

NEW DESIGNS FOR COINS.

It is announced that the United States treasury will soon issue new designs in place of the present style of dimes, quarters and half dollars. If they are no better specimens than the buffalo nickel, there will be little to be gained by the change.

To most people one design for a coin is as good as another, provided it passes at the grocery store. But coins do have a real significance. For centuries nations have used them to express their ideas, history, and great leaders. A well designed and executed coin is a sign that the people behind it are a nation of high intelligence and development of craftsmanship. Conversely a poorly designed coin suggests a low development of the arts.

The familiar designs of our present silver coins would not probably strike a typographical expert as very well done. Compared with those issued by European governments, the lettering and figures seem rather coarse and blunt, too heavily shaded and lacking in clear-cut definition. The Lincoln cent introduced a few years ago was one example of a finely done coin. The lettering for the words "one cent" is particularly well rounded, clear, and beautiful, and would be hard to improve upon.

The buffalo nickel had at least one well done feature, the Indian head, a vigorous and expressive drawing of this American type. But the lettering was crowded down almost to nothing, and the coin had a rough and bumpy appearance that made it look like some freak advertising medal. Of the other designs has been almost universally preferred.

Lettering on coins that requires a magnifying glass to read may be called artistic, but it spoils the design. Every letter or figure on the coin should be clear and obvious, so that everyone who examines it can see just what ideas were meant to be conveyed.

Prohibiting certain kinds of fireworks is challenging the ingenuity of resourceful youth, who outnumber any police force fifty to one. It is as easy to round them up and get them to bed the night before, as if they were little leeches.

It is one of the traditions of history that there have to be certain days of merry-making and public frolic, when dry life are set aside. But Young America can be diverted, and his attention distracted from meaningless noise and rowdiness. Janesville offers just such a program.

It looks now as though the "watchful waiting" Mexican freepot has boiled over and someone is bound to be scalded. It has been steaming away at a great rate and Washington is worried. Why not send Bryan down there to make a "peace" talk to the ignorant peons, instead of the state militia? They would not understand a word he said, but what of it?

REFORMING JULY FOURTH.

If we are to have a "reformed" July Fourth observance, it is necessary to give the active American youth some outlet for their primitive play spirit. You can't keep a boy quiet by giving him a lecture on patriotism. After it is over he will explode more boisterously than ever.

Beautification of the river bank by boxes of growing, flowering plants in the rear of stores facing North Main street and visible from the Milwaukee street bridge, is indeed a pleasing sight and if more business houses would follow suit it would greatly enhance the view the casual stranger has of the city.

Great credit is given the republican convention for not forgetting to nominate a vice-president before returning home. It is pleasing to note the democrats showed equal presence of mind.

Anyway, Mr. Hughes and President Wilson could not have had to pay any overweigh postage on the very brief letters they exchanged about his resignation.

My but it takes a long while for those "stagger" street lights to be placed in position! Perhaps it will be a Christmas gift to the city after all.

It is not true that Candidate Hughes has signed a testimonial telling of the benefits he has derived from using a safety razor.

There is a growing feeling that water is a good, healthy drink for people who drive high powered automobiles.

The Greeks are not anxious for war. They don't shine shoes in war times as in peaceful days.

OVER THE BORDER.

Mary had a little lamb;
It met a Wall street Bull,
Who quickly got the scissors,
And trimmed it of its wool.

(We have received so many requests from readers who desire to enter the profession of writing for the movies, to publish a perfect example of a moving picture scenario, that today we compile and print "Over the Border," which was sent to us by the Motion Picture Co. as the best scenario received by them this year.—Ed.)

Over the Border
(12 Scenes)
Scene 1. Beatrice Birdsboro, a beautiful widow, is sitting with her husband in the kitchen of her beautiful home. Their three month old baby is playing on the floor. Suddenly Flora Flaxseed, a strenuous, sticks her head in the back door and winks at Mr. Birdsboro. While his wife has her back turned pouring oil on the kitchen fire, she has been busy. Birdsboro picks up the baby and follows Flora.

Scene 2. (Ten years later.) A rocky coast. Beatrice, now married, is walking by the sea with her second husband, but thinking of her first. Suddenly a steamer hits a rock half a mile out and falls to pieces. Baby floats in on a raft. Wading out to the ocean without even drawing up her skirt, Beatrice seizes the child, a baby of three months, and recognized it immediately that it is her own child, last seen by her ten years before. Just then her first husband is washed ashore, alive and well, and

Beatrice shoots her second husband and goes home with her child and lawful mate.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

An Internal Contraption.
I've been down to the city, boys, to call upon my son.
If any fellow's got ahead, I'll tell you he is one.
He's got a brand new touring car, a fireless cooker, too.
A hired gal to do the work the wimmen folks here do.
He's got a bathtub in his house with water hot and cold;
His parlor furniture, by gosh, is made of solid gold.
He's got the new improvements, but I don't mind if it's said,
I'm not so ravin' crazy 'bout that doggone foldin' bed.

He took me into my room, and I took off my shoes.
Before I noticed that there was no place for me to snooze.
There wasn't nothin' like a bed that could see by him.
And when I asked him 'bout it, he just nodded toward a thing that looked like a planner and he let me to my fate.
Before I got it figured out the hour was somewhat late.
At last I pried the thing apart and thought I'd go ahead
And try to snatch some sleep in that new-fangled foldin' bed.

I let the thing down to the floor and then I hustled in.
It took me just about an hour to get it shet again.
You see, I stayed right in the bed and shet her up once more.
And when I woke next mornin' I was cramped and lame and sore.

It's hard to sleep all doubled up, but then I read that
They've got to save the space some how when livin' in a flat.
It made me dizzy all next day from sleepin' on my head.
I took the first train right back home, to sleep in a reglar bed.

There's Always a Way.

How to clean out a flue that was stopped up by soot was a vexing problem to W. S. Thompson of the City Hotel at Tipton (Mo.) until a well meaning friend supplied the information. The instructions were to get a half pint bottle, fill it with water, place it in the fire in the stove and wait results. Mr. Thompson delegated the actual performance to the negro porter, who stayed until the explosion, which wrecked the stove and threw him some ten feet away, scared white enough to vote the Democratic ticket at the next general election. The condition of the flue was unchanged. And we all ways mean so well.

Luck.

Ah nevah cotched a train on time,
Ah nevah won a single dime.
Ef diamonds fell out ob de sky,
Ah'd sholy be in jail.
Nobody hands no flawbs to me,
An' eat am very plain to see.
De only word what fits mah case,
An' jest dis vere one, "Fail."
Ah've nevah had no chance for ease,
Ah has to wotk six days a week or stahve to deff, dar's all.

No easy graft comes' lond mah way;
Fo' what Ah gits, Ah has to pay.
Ah nevah has a cent laid up when Ah comes' long tow'd fail.
Dere ain't no luck fo' dis vere con.

CONGRESS RESUMES ITS ACTIVE DUTIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, June 19.—Congress got down to active work again today. For nearly two weeks there has been a lull in legislative activity, both in the senate and the house, while members were in attendance upon the national political conventions. The most pressing measures before congress are the big supply bills, several of which remain to be acted upon before June 30. Only eleven legislative days remain before the close of the fiscal year.

Work on the sundry service bill carrying $127,237,000 was begun in the house today, while the post office appropriation bill was still before the senate as unfinished business. The army appropriation bill, carrying $107,000,000 is expected to be taken up in the house after the sundry service bill is disposed of.

Linoleum for Nurseries.

The prejudice which exists against the use of linoleum for nurseries is ill founded. Not only is it easy to wash, but, with the habit all babies possess of picking things from the floor and putting them into the mouth, the microbe-killing effect of this compound of linseed oil and cork is a useful safeguard. A bare wooden floor, especially of soft pine, is particularly harmful, as it provides a good breeding place for germs.

The Greatest Love.

No language can express the power and beauty and heroism and majesty of a mother's love. It shrinks not where man fears, and grows stronger where man faints, and over the wastes of worldly fortune sends the radiance of quenchless fidelity like a star in heaven.—E. H. Chapin.

YOUTH OF NINETEEN GETS INTO TROUBLE IN SUNDAY FRACAS

Harry Church of Rockford Held in County Jail Charged With Offense at South Jansville.

Harry Church, age nineteen years, of Rockford, is under arrest at the county jail pending the issuing of a criminal warrant from the municipal court today, for an alleged offense committed during a brawl Sunday morning at South Jansville. The charge will probably be aiming and pointing a revolver or carrying concealed weapons.

It appears that young Church with a companion named Walter Smith, were at South Jansville Saturday night, and according to Church they were both at a hotel drinking. There was one woman in one of the hotels, who it appears attracted favorable attention from the patrons of the barroom and hotel Sunday morning. This woman and a railroad brakeman, another man, were standing with Smith and Church at the interurban station waiting for the car.

Church and Smith started to walk down the tracks, and Church alleged in his statement this morning that he was addressed an insulting remark to him by the brakeman, went back to the platform and for an explanation. It is alleged by the arrested man that the brakeman said to him, "You are a damn fool, and backing off held the brakeman by the gun. No attempt at robbery was made and the young man defended himself with the weapon only to defend himself, he was alone at the platform with the two other men and the woman.

When the officers arrived, they arrested the gun with the chamber empty and found a plank near the power house. The woman had taken the early car to Beloit. The name of this woman, the brakeman or the other man, could not be learned as great secrecy was observed in covering up the affair. Parker Vogan stated this morning that the complainant and the other witnesses should be in court to prosecute Church Tuesday morning.

WAGON SOMERSAULTS; DRIVER IS UNHURT

D. V. Howell Has Thrilling Runaway This Morning Which Wrecked His Delivery Wagon.

D. V. Howell, 614 Pleasant street, is residing Providence that he is not at the mercy hospital nursing serious injuries, or that the coroner's jury is not hearing evidence this afternoon. Howell had been driving a delivery wagon, and turned over in an enclosed delivery wagon in a runaway this morning. He was driving a lively horse, and the wagon street crossing about ten o'clock, when the horse took fright. As the driver was inside he could not manage the animal.

In front of the city hall the horse began kicking and plunging across the street. At the corner of Dodge and Jackson, the horse made a sharp turn. The big wagon turned completely over, landing against the curb. The wagon rolled over on its side, and during the loop-the-loop of the wagon, was inside with glass breaking all about him. When the wagon stopped turning, his head was toward the ground and his feet up in the air, with coffee, spices, rugs and other merchandise piled all about him.

The horse had kicked loose and continued running down the street. Howell was not injured, and ran out of the front, a most surprised person, to find that he was not even scratched by the flying glass. Police officers and spectators to the accident righted the wagon and then search was made for the fleeing horse.

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-three years old and I have been married five years and have two dear little children. My husband used to love me, but he does not any more. He worships the children and is very good to them, but he hardly speaks to me. His mother lives with us and when he comes home at night he talks to her about his work and all the things that are worrying him. He seems to think that I could not understand if he told me. My husband used to be at home every night but now he often stays away. He tells me that he has to work, but I don't believe it. He seems absent-minded and I think he is interested in another woman. I can't give him up because I love him. What shall I do?

UNHAPPY WIFE.
You cannot win back your husband's love quickly. It will take a great deal of self-control and wisdom on your part to do it. In the first place, respect his moods. When he seems inclined to ignore you, keep out of his sight, and when he is more kindly and confidential than usual be responsive. Don't tell him everything about yourself; let him wonder a little. Show love where it is needed, and develop interest in his work, and pretty clothes might open his eyes. Don't say anything about other women; and don't tease him to love you. His love will not come back to you by force, but by subtle planning.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would like your advice concerning a girl I would like to go with. She works where I do and is pretty; she is a blond. I am rather at a loss how to let her know that I would like to go with her. She seems so distant. Some time ago

I was pestered with a homely girl who herself in my way all the chances she got. It finally caused me much talk and laughter I left the place. Tell me how to win the pretty blond I want to go with.

INEXPERIENCED.
Go up to the girl some time and ask permission to call or ask if she will go somewhere with you. Mention some definite place, such as a play at the theater, if you want to take her somewhere.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please give me a good recipe for tooth powder? (2) I am very badly troubled with dandruff. Will you tell me what to do?

(3) I am seventeen. Do you think I am old enough to go with boys?

ROBABLY.
(1) A good tooth powder is made from seven parts of precipitated chalk, one-half dram of powdered camphor, and one dram of powdered orris root. Mix by sifting several times through coarse muslin.

(2) A dandruff cure is made from one dram of barbic acid and two and one-half ounces of lavender water. Mix and massage into the scalp every other night.

(3) You are old enough to let boys come to see you once in a while and to place with them occasionally if you mother approves.

Dear Mrs. Thompson. What causes dark circles under the eyes and what will remove them? I never used to have them, but lately the circles are very noticeable.

BILLYE.
Dark circles are caused by a sluggish liver, loss of rest and poor circulation. The treatment must be in deep breathing, free action of the bowels and rest.

In reply to a Good Reader: Your interest is very kind and I appreciate it. Unfortunately I do not know the girl's address.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What will make my eyelashes curl up? There is no way of curling the eyelashes except by training them with the fingers. This is sometimes effective.

Household Hints

RAINBOW SALAD
Chop one cup of apples fine; chop one cup of celery fine, seed one cup of white grapes and cut in halves; chop a few red peppers finely; a few olives cut in rings and green lettuce cut into ribbons. Mix this with a heavy mayonnaise.

This salad is pretty served in red or green pepper shells or in orange baskets.

FOR TOBACCO SMOKE
To dissipate the smell of tobacco smoke out a lump of crystal ammonia into a jar, add three or four drops of oil of lavender, pour in a few salt spoons of boiling water and let stand in the room. There will be a faint, pleasant odor, which will entirely do away with all smell of tobacco.

JELLY FROM NON-JELLYING FRUITS
Cherries, peaches, pears, rhubarb and huckleberries all have so little pectose that it is impossible to make a good firm jelly from them alone.

Any surplus juice from these should be strained through a jelly bag and carefully sealed in pint jars.

At any time that apples are pared in a considerable quantity, as for butter, put the parings on to boil in just sufficient water to cover. Boil until soft. Put in a little white alcohol to drip over night. In the morning there will be a dish of pinkish juice that is so full of pectose that it is sticky to the touch, and is as though thickened with gelatin.

Measure this and add an equal amount of cherry or other desired juice and put to boil in a broad surface. Keep it there until the mixture is a half gallon of these mixed juices may boil rapidly for ten minutes, then add as many cups of granulated sugar as there were cups to the mixed juice before boiling them together.

After sugar is added, boil rapidly and continuously until a little, put in ice water will "jell." Lift from the fire at once and turn into sterilized glasses, and stand to cool in a sunny window if possible.

When cool cover with a white paper that has been brushed over with the white of an egg, pressing it down around the glass. Store in a tight, dry cupboard.

Apples are so mildly flavored that the jelly resulting from the mixture will have the taste of the desired fruit.

Of course, the whole fruit could be used instead of the parings, but as most of the jelly-forming substance is in the skin, the use of the parings is more economical.

THE TABLE
Rhubarb Butter—Five pounds rhubarb, four pounds sugar, one cup cold vinegar, two tablespoons ground cinnamon and two teaspoons ground cloves. Let boil about two hours, or until thick.

Chicken in Cream—Dress chicken in usual way, cut in pieces, have butter in casserole. Flour chicken rather heavily, put chicken in casserole, cover with sweet cream or cream and milk together. A couple of tablespoons of sour cream will make it tender and give it a delicious flavor, and you have a very appetizing gravy.

Spanish Bury—One cup sugar, one cup milk, one cup (scant) butter or lard, three eggs, four tablespoons of baking molasses, one teaspoon soda, two cups flour, one teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg.

Hot Waffles—Take one pint sour milk or cream, two eggs beaten separately, five tablespoons melted lard, half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking soda, about a cup of flour. Stir eggs, sour milk, soda and salt together, then add enough flour to make a batter. Beat lard and add the lard and lastly the beaten whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with maple syrup or with powdered sugar.

Date Pudding That Will Keep for Weeks—Two eggs, one-half cup sugar, one cup nutmeats, one pound dates, two tablespoons sifted flour. Beat eggs and sugar together. Break nutmeats in small pieces. Remove seeds from dates. Mix all ingredients together. Bake in square pans. The pudding is taken in baking, it bakes easily. To be eaten with hard sauce. This makes a small pudding.

Date Pudding—Two cups brown sugar, two cups water. Let boil. Stir in three tablespoons cornstarch or enough to make thick. Take off, add one pound chopped dates and nuts to taste. Serve with whipped cream.

Marrying a Butterfly

The Sensible Words of a Friend Go Unheeded by Ethel Gordon.

"Oh, Ethel Gordon, it certainly is good to see you," exclaimed Maisie Folsom as she sprang off the Pullman and ran toward her friend. "I believe you are prettier than ever. Ralph must be good to you."

"I am an old married woman. It is the joy of seeing you again that has rejuvenated me," Ethel settled her mouth in demure curves as she eyed her friend's suit and compared it with her own.

"You have a lovely new suit," Maisie continued, feeling the scrutiny, "and it is immensely becoming. I hardly thought you would go to such lengths as to get another suit, living in a small town as you do."

This is one way a woman can save in a small place if she wants to," Maisie smiled radiantly at her friend.

Saving never was my long suit, if you remember," laughed Ethel, wondering if Maisie could possibly have heard of their financial embarrassment.

"Oh, before marriage, yes, but most women reform after marriage," Maisie was privately wondering if Ethel was as much of a doll as ever. "They have so much to think about that mere clothes are crowded out," she continued aloud.

"What, for instance?" asked Ethel.

"What is important? Why, home-making and housekeeping, making home the dearest place on earth," replied Maisie.

"Really, I think you must be engaged, or at least in love. You are so sentimental," Ethel looked wonderingly at the girl beside her.

"I do not know when I shall be coming back," tone was almost sad, "my uncle is very sick; it will depend on his health."

"Oh I did not know he was seriously ill. I thought he wanted you for company," Maisie looked graceful.

"He does not say he is very sick. I only fear from what I have heard in an indirect way."

"Come on, let's go to the picture show and forget all our worries. It is the best way," urged Ethel.

"If you can, some cannot forget," replied Maisie.

MOTHER OF SIX CHILDREN ADOPT TWO BABY BOYS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Cleveland, June 19.—After years of search and patient waiting, Mrs. M. J. Prendergast, 47, herself a twin, and mother of six children, has adopted her heart's desire, two baby boys.

The babies were orphaned by the death of their mother, a West Virginia cousin of Mrs. Prendergast.

Years ago Mrs. Prendergast began her search. There were three pairs of twins in her father's family; her grandmother had twins, and there were several other pairs on other branches of Mrs. Prendergast's family tree.

The plump youngsters have been christened Tom L. Joan Prendergast and the smaller one, Newton D. Baker Prendergast, after Cleveland's most celebrated sons.

"This is a poor enough excuse of an entertainment, and you are the only one of the crowd to come over this near to my home. When you come back you must make us a real visit."

WHEN GOOD FOODS ARE POISONS
My little boy, aged 8, cannot eat, or anything with eggs in it," writes a mother. "If he does, his eyes become bloodshot, and his breathing becomes difficult. Is there anything that can be done for him?" I can take a few glasses of milk a day with impunity," reports a near-neighbor. "But when I endeavored to join our Bread and Milk club and drink about three pints of milk a day, I suffered severely from indigestion. However, until the third Monday—and they are always as blue as blazes!—when my third crop of hives satisfied me that I cannot maintain membership in this purely a neurotic incident."

Any food of nitrogenous character, or any nitrogenous substance, food, pollen, dandruff, serum, or whatnot, may produce what is known as "anaphylaxis" in a sensitized individual. For instance, inject a guinea or a human subject with pure blood serum; no outward effect is noted. But repeat the injection some weeks or months later, and the asthmatic symptoms, even death may follow. The first dose, introduced "parenterally" (through some route other than the digestion) has sensitized the subject, so that subsequent doses prove more or less poisonous. Doctors have to consider this in administering serum; if the patient has once had, say, diphtheria antitoxin, and now a year later, he suffers from an antitoxin, great care must be exercised lest the patient prove to be sensitized; he must be tested, first, with a mere drop or two of the serum. The ordinary cause of hives and of "anaphylaxis" as well as hay fever and asthma, and probably other conditions not as yet clearly worked out, is the introduction parenterally of a protein substance from one source or another. In hives, shell fish, strawberries, cheese, etc., taken as food, may be the cause, through some trifling abrasion in the lining of stomach or bowel, an ulcer, or fissure, perhaps. Likewise, contact with a caterpillar, and the bite of some insects may supply the causative protein or nitrogenous substance.

Asthma and hay fever are well known results of protein poisoning.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Good Description of the past four years, except last spring. I have pains in the stomach about two hours after eating, and feel so bad I can't do my work. I feel all in. When I take a hot cup of milk or water the pain lets up and I feel all right. My appetite is fair, but I am afraid to eat much. I am fifty years old. Please advise.

Answer—This is a good description of duodenal ulcer, it is wise to have it cured, not only for the sake of comfort, but because there is a tendency toward cancer developing in the situation of a chronic ulcer. You should take some milk every two hours all day, and also take either soda or milk of magnesia in the milk. The periodicity, chronicity and character of the attacks, and the relation to meals, strongly suggests ulcer.

CATBIRD

(Dumetella carolinensis)

Length, about nine inches. The slaty gray plumage and black cap and tail are distinctive.

Range: Extends throughout the United States west to New Mexico, Utah, Oregon, and Washington, and in southern Canada; winters from the gulf states to Panama.

Habits and economic status: In many localities the catbird is one of the commonest birds. Tangled growth is its favorite nesting place
and retreats, but berry patches and ornamental shrubbery are not distanced. Hence the bird is a familiar dooryard visitor. The bird has a fine
song, unfortunately marred by occasional cat calls. With habits similar to those of the mocking bird and a song almost as varied, the catbird has never secured a similar place in popular favor. Half of its food consists of fruit, and the cultivated crops most often injured are cherries, strawberries, raspberries, and blackberries.

Beetles, ants, crickets, and grasshop-
pers are the most important element of its animal food. The bird is known to attack a few pests, as cutworms,
leaf beetles, clover-root curculio, and
the periodical cicada, but the good it does in this way probably does not pay for the fruit it steals. The extent to which it should be protected
may perhaps be left to the individual cultivator; that is, it should be made lawful to destroy catbirds that are doing manifest damage to crops.

As She Remembered It.
Miss Blanche Johnson, Sunday
school teacher of a primary class at Hope Chapel, Nineteenth street and Washington avenue N., Minneapolis, is wondering whether her efforts to ward uplifting humanity are worth while.

In a recent lesson she told the children how Moses had led the Israelites
to the land of Canaan, guided through the wilderness at night by a pillar of fire.

The next Sunday she asked the children what the previous lesson was about. An intelligent appearing little girl raised her hand and answered:
"The Israelites were led into the land
of Canaan by a caterpillar."—Wash-

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

SEWING MACHINES
The wives of Bombay capture,
tame and domesticate wild sewing
machines for the American market.
A trained sewing machine is used to decoy its brothers and sisters into a trap. When a wild sewing machine discovers itself in a trap
its struggles are terrific, until it becomes reconciled to its fate.

Nearly every home has a sewing machine, but few housewives really know how to take care of these sensitive and sometimes ferocious dominions of the forest. We will give a few suggestions. A sewing machine should never be kept in the same room with a member of the family. A special room
should be provided, or better still,
a garage or kennel, about 150
yards from the house.

A sewing machine is very untidy
about its person; that is why they are undesirable in the house. They chew up rags, and can litter up a room in five minutes. At sight
they shed needles, and special care should be taken to keep them out of bedrooms. A Reno, Nevada,
Judge has decided that if a woman
keeps a sewing machine in her bedroom, a man should be given a divorce and no questions asked.

Still, sewing machines have their good points. Now and then they become happy, and their song is unequaled by that of any other animal—few, or quacked. They are sure-footed, hardworking, earnest and sincere little beasts, when once broken. Some of them travel
as far as 350,000 miles in a lifetime.

Why He Liked the Camel.

Harris Dickson, on a hunting trip
in Sunflower county, Mississippi, met an old ducky who had never seen a camel in his life. When the big show came in the following season to Dick-son's town of Vicksburg he sent for the old man and treated him to the whole thing—arrival of the trains, putting up the tents, grand free street
parade, menagerie, main performance,
concert, side show, peanuts, red lemonade, and all. The old ducky followed his white patron through with popping eyes, but saying never a word. Late in the afternoon they got back to the Dickson home. "John,"
said Dickson, "you enjoyed it?"

"Boss," said John fervently, "Ah shore did!" "What did you like the most?"
"Mistah Dickson," answered John, "Ah
shore liked it all." "Well, what impressed you most?" "Well, sah, boss,"
he said, "Ah reckon hit was dat dere
animal you calls de camel." "The camel, eh? Well, what was so remarkable about the camel?" "He suttinly
is got sich a noble smell!"

Picture Hanging an Art.

The matter of picture hanging presents many problems to those who have not time to give to a careful
study of arrangements, and our walls,
instead of being restful and well balanced, are too often a hodge-podge of all sorts and conditions of art.

In going over one's pictures eliminate all but the choicest and best beloved and try to group together the pictures whose subjects are somewhat related or which have a stim-larity in frames. Indeed, even when subjects are closely related, it is not possible always to hang pictures together, owing to a too great difference in the kind of frames. As a rule, any room looks better, especially
small rooms, where only one color
frame is used on all the pictures.
